

A photograph of a family celebrating a birthday. An older man in a blue checkered shirt is seated at a table, looking down at a white birthday cake with blue polka dots. He has a pair of glasses on the table next to him. Around him are his family: a woman, a young girl, a young boy, and another woman, all smiling and clapping. The scene is bright and cheerful, with natural light coming from a window in the background.

Did you know AMD
is more common
than glaucoma?

Schedule an AdaptDx
test today!

Age-related macular degeneration (AMD) is a progressive eye disease and the leading cause of adult vision loss.